

Revision Tips

1. Try to find a quiet place to work where you are happy and comfortable. Where you can concentrate.

2. You should try to sit at a desk or table to practise for the exam.

3. If you can, try to keep your work tidy. Use trays, files and a notice board. Use a folder for each topic; colour code it.

4. Think about working with friends, in a group (it might not work – but it can help).

5. Make a timetable. Try not to do too much, but don't waste time.

6. Try to plan out a work session. Try about 30 minutes? Then have a good break, at least 10 minutes. Then start again, but remember to take another break.

7. Never revise when you are tired.

Remember:

- Find somewhere quiet to work
- Sit at a desk or table
- Keep your work tidy
- Work with friends (if possible)
- Make a timetable
- Don't do too much
- Take regular breaks
- Stop working if you feel tired.
