

Countdown Strip

Place a counter on the clocks in turn to show the time for the task running down. The pupil is expected to have completed the task by the time a counter is placed on the final clock. This system allows the teacher to be more flexible and adjust the time periods in between the clocks rather than using a sand timer for example.