Food Parcel Deliveries Available for Struggling Families during the Summer Holidays

Stratford upon Avon Foodbank, and Stratford Churches Together, announce the provision of a weekly food parcel delivery for struggling families living in Stratford and the surrounding area throughout the school summer holidays. This offer is being made to all families with at least one child of primary school age and is an extension of the MakeLunch project that had provided family meals from the URC Church during school holidays. Unfortunately, current Covid guidelines means hosting a hot meal is impossible so, families are being offered the alternative of a weekly food parcel delivered to their home address instead.

MakeLunch Project leader Ann Jones said, "We are determined that the pandemic would not stop us supporting families that need us, and we are delighted that the Foodbank are able to support us in this initiative."

Marion Homer, Foodbank Manager said. "With the recent doubt over what provision the government might offer during the summer to those families in receipt of free school meals we have worked with Stratford Churches Together to come up with this project. We are obviously very pleased that there has been a rethink on the extension of the free school meals support ,but believe the addition of this local service, that brings food directly to the family's home adds another layer of support."

MakeLunch Project Leader Ann Jones continued, "Since lock down we have been working with the Foodbank to deliver food parcels to families who have previously made use of the MakeLunch Club. However, we are aware that the number of families facing similar difficulties may well increase during the summer months and we wanted to continue our support. We urge any family with a child of primary school age who is facing financial hardship, or any agency working with such families, to make contact so we can arrange a weekly food parcel delivery for them. In addition to the usual Foodbank parcel items of tinned and packet food, we will also provide fresh food and an activity for the children. Our intention is to relieve some of the worries facing local families currently. We are pleased, that by working with the Foodbank, we can reach out to families in this way .”

If you are a parent or guardian with primary school aged children and feel you might benefit from this weekly food parcel delivery, or you are working with families in a crisis situation, please contact MakeLunch project leader Ann Jones on 07580 557163 or email her at anncherryjones@yahoo.co.uk to be added to the delivery list. Deliveries are expected to start from Monday 20th July. For more information please follow the MakeLunch Facebook page <https://www.facebook.com/SOAMakeLunch/> or see the Q & A below.

10. Can I get a food parcel delivery if I have children at secondary school age or at nursery school, but not any at primary school?

The MakeLunch project are prepared to deliver parcels to any family that has at least one child of primary school age. However, if you have children but none of primary school please contact the foodbank on info@stratforduponavon.foodbank.org.uk or call or text on 07736 929029 and they may be able to accommodate you under their usual food parcel provision, in some cases this may also include a food parcel delivery.

11. Is there a limit to the support available ?

The MakeLunch project are keen to support as many families as possible. However they reserve the right to 'close their books' if numbers become unmanageable – for this reason early requests are welcome so deliveries can be planned well in advance
